Snarf, Worthal, Freda Nominations Offered

by Owen T. Jamison — Universe Staff Writer

Initial nominations for Snarf, the noted professor, Worthal, "Little Man on Campus" and Freda, his beautiful girl friend, were submitted to the Universe staff early this week.

Heading the list for Snarf are Prof. R. L. Smith of the Business Administration Department and Owen Rich, instructor in radio and speech. First name submitted to the Universe staff was R. L. Smith, who, according to his students, has been conducting an intensive campaign for the position.

Mr. Rich was nominated due to a "deep, long-felt need for recognition."

Worthal Candidates

"LMOC" nominations went to Jack Whittle and Kirk Hart. Mr. Whittle is a junior majoring in counseling service and social activities. Mr. Whittle has no minors.

Kirk Hart, better known to his ROTC instructors as David K. Hart, is a junior majoring in Political Science and minoring in Pushin'.

Freda Nominations

Naida Black and Mary Dawson are initial nominees for Freda. Worthal's friendly but unattainable (to Worthal) girl friend. Miss Black is from Tooele and is a junior. She is current office manager of the Brigham Young Universe, which may or may not have influenced the nominating.

Miss Dawson is a junior, a major in fine arts and specializes in speech and dramatic arts. She has appeared in several plays, all of which were successes, which may or may not be significant.

These nominees will join 12 others who will be presented in subsequent issues of the Uni verse.

Between the years of 1947 and 1950, Elder Brown was professor of religion and co-ordinator of veteran's affairs at Brigham Young University. When he left here in 1950 he became president of the Richland Oil Development Company of Canada Ltd., an office he held until his present position.

Forensic Squad Garners Three Firsts, 2 Seconds

Brigham Young University's speech squad came up with three first places and two seconds at the recently completed Rocky Mountain Speech Conference held in Denver.

Competing with students from 35 western colleges and universities, Nancy Knudsen picked up a first in Discussion, Carolyn Farley won Oratory, and Albert Scoonover topped the Interpretation section.

TUNE SELECTION BALLOTS ARE DUE

Today at 5 p.m. will be the last chance students will have to vote for their "Five Favorite" tunes.

"The Late Rolfe Peterson" program at 10:15 p.m. Thursday will be dedicated to Brigham Young University students and their favorite records will be played.

Four students will make a trip to Salt Lake City to be interviewed by Rolfe during the program.

Students are asked to fill out the application on page three and drop it in the box in the Smith Information booth.

Y-U Student Dance Follows Ute Game

"Y and U," a dance co-sponsored by the Associated Men Students of Brigham Young University and University of Utah, will be held Saturday night. It will follow the BYU-U of U basketball game, according to Dale Laub, publicity chairman.

The Smith Building and the Social Hall will be open for the dance. Sport dress will be the attire, with all students from both schools invited.

Gus Shields' band will play at the Smith Building and Bob Evans and his group will appear at the Social Hall. Refreshments will be served at intermission.

Chad Hull is general chairman of the dance. He is assisted by Clark Whitehead, Frank Daly, Colette Thomas and Dale Laub.

Church Basketball Finals Shifted to Fieldhouse, 32 Teams to Participate

The biggest basketball tournament in history, the All-Church M-Men Tournament, will be held for the first time in its 32 years at the Brigham Young University Fieldhouse, March 2-6. All previous M-Men tournaments have been held in Salt Lake City either in the Deseret Gym or the University of Utah Fieldhouse.

The tournament was changed to BYU this year, according to Dr. Henry L. Isaksen, member of the committee in charge of tournament arrangements, because of the "fame and facilities of the fieldhouse." The attendance is expected to be such as only the Fieldhouse could accommodate, Dr. Isaksen said. The location will also give BYU students an opportunity to watch teams from their home towns or states participate.

Tournament Enlarged

The 32-team tournament is enlarged from the 16 teams participating in previous years. Finalists competing will be winners in their divisions from a field of approximately 1,050 teams throughout the Church.

The M-Men tournament is recognized as the world's largest because it draws teams from the biggest league and provides the greatest participation, Dr. Isaksen stated. It is one of the few international tournaments, with teams from Canada and Mexico.

Season tickets for the 57 games of the tournament may be purchased by students and faculty members for $2. Cost for attending the eight sessions of the tour-

Famous Pianist Slates Provo Solo Program

Brigham Young University students will have the rare privilege of hearing a performance by Carl Fuerstner, noted concert pianist and member of the BYU music faculty, Thursday at 8:15 p.m.

Planned as a feature of the BYU-Community Concert series, Fuerstner will play in the Provo Tabernacle. He has planned to feature one of his unusual and excellent programs.

Provo residents and BYU students have not recently had the opportunity to hear this noted and favorite pianist, as his teaching and frequent tours have kept him busy constantly. This is his 26th solo concert in Provo, having appeared on summer music festivals here regularly before he joined the faculty of BYU.

One of the favorite concert pianists of the intermountain area, Fuerstner frequently appears as assisting artist with some of the greatest names in music. Very recently he completed tours throughout the intermountain and west coastal areas with soprano Jean Fenn, and mezzo-soprano Jane Hobson.

Known throughout the world for his versatility as a musician, he was conductor of the Cologne Opera Company in Cologne, Germany, before coming to America. He has also been director of opera at the Eastman School of Music at the University of Rochester, N.Y.

NOTED PIANIST—Carl Fuerstner returns to Provo Thursday for his 26th solo concert appearance. He will be guest artist on the Brigham Young University-Community Concert Series.

Provoan Designed Newest Structure

The new three-story classroom building, scheduled for early March construction, was designed by Fred L. Markham, Provo architect, according to Ben Lewis, associate treasurer.

The new building will contain 110 offices and 38 classrooms, two of which are auditorium types which will seat 200 persons each.

A Cappella Choir To Sing on Radio

A radio appearance is scheduled for the Brigham Young University A Cappella Choir when it makes its tour of Southern California May 4-9. The choir has been invited to present a half-hour program over a nationwide Mutual Broadcasting System network Sunday, April 6, at 3 p.m.

Appearing on Mutual's "Colleges on the Air," it will help to publicize BYU and the Church.

School Supply Center Fills Student Needs

by Marian Worthen - Universe Staff Writer

Students are more honest at Brigham Young University than at most universities, according to Neil McKnight, manager of the campus bookstore.

While some loss is reported in the book department in the basement, a slightly greater loss occurs in the supply room, but it is not as great as that experienced at other schools.

The new bookstore, formerly located in the building that now houses the school of nursing, occupies part of the Student Service Center. It opened in its new location last March at the beginning of spring quarter.

Modern Stories

One of the most modern stores in the country, it has been visited by managers from several eastern universities including Cornell and Princeton along with Washington State College, University of California at Los Angeles.

Designed by Ken White, industrial designer from New York, it embodies the newest principles of construction. All weight is placed on the outside walls so that the interior can be remodeled to fit the need of a growing university. The main room is 60 feet wide and 175 feet long. In it, supplies range from looseleaf paper to birthday cards and valentines, cooking utensils, gym shoes, cameras, candy and jewelry.

Floors are of pink terrazzo and have conduits placed in every other section to allow for drilling for electricity placement in the event of remodeling. Since floors of this type tend to be uneven, all display counters and tables have legs which adjust to any uneven spots when a slight pressure is applied.

Fluorescent Lighting

The lighting is fluorescent and incandescent to eliminate odd shadows and distortion of colors.

Special features not generally seen nor noticed by students include three stock rooms located just off the main floor with dumb waiters in two of them to facilitate movement of supplies; lockers for the 34 part-time and two full time employees; the art department which makes all of the display signs and posters to be used in the bookstore; a two-way mirror located in the office of the sales manager to aid in determining if more sales help is needed; a Webster inter-communication system with eight stations to which four more can be added when necessary; and glass shelves in the bookcases to allow more light on the lower shelves.

Ivan Sanderson manages the store on lower campus which handles all of the art supplies for the school and handles all of the books for Brigham Young High School.

Prom Planners Arrange for Park Service

Junior Prom attenders will have no car parking problems at this year's dance, April 2 and 3, prom planners report. A car-parking committee is already making preparations for an efficient "park-your-car" service, according to Dale Laub, parking chairman.

Following the basic procedure used last year, this year's car parking committee is working towards greater speed and careful delivery of cars to owners after the dance, said Mr. Laub.

Each car will be driven to a stand near the entrance. Occupants will attend the dance while an attendant parks the car. After the dance a public address system will be used to aid attendants in delivering cars to the owners at the pickup stand.

Assisting Mr. Laub on this committee are Jim Wasden, Clairmont, Calif. and Kenneth Coleman, Springville, Ariz. Members of Vikings social unit will serve as parking attendants. These men will have proper authorization and identification.

Anyone who has worked in some phase of group parking and who might help the parking committee to achieve greater speed and more efficient service is urged to contact one of the committee members.

Speakers Prepare For Capital City Forensic Tourney

The annual Utah Junior College Forensic tournament will be held at the University of Utah, Friday and Saturday Feb. 19 and 20, according to Dr. J. LaVar Bateman, forensic director.

The special events, discussion, extemporaneous, impromptu, radio, interpretation, and oratory, will be held on Friday. Any other students who are not active in forensics and who are interested, should contact Dr. Bateman immediately.

All the teams entered in debate will participate in five rounds. The discussion topic is improvement of congressional investigations. The subject for extemporaneous speaking is "American Civil Liberties" and for impromptu, "The Eisenhower Administration."

Those wishing to enter oratory must have a new original oration for this tournament. The group will leave at 7:15 Friday morning, and the tournament will end Saturday noon.

Banyan Workers Plan Staff Party

The quarterly Banyan party, for winter quarter will be held for a three-fold purpose, Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Social Hall.

It is to honor the cast and committee members of the Banyan ball and assembly, to shoot yearbook pictures for the Banyan page, and to have fun, according to Mary Anne Carter, Banyan editor.

Members of both the business and editorial staff of the Banyan and all those who worked or performed on either the Banyan dance or assembly are invited. Co-chairmen are Kate McGuire and Ellen Rollins and the proof staff.

The affair will be sport and stag. However, partners of cast and staff members will be welcomed.

Pictures of Banyan secretaries, salesmen, editors, photographers, and staffs will be taken at this time.

Professor Plans Talks About Early Christians

Dr. Hugh Nibley, professor of history and religion, will give five lectures in Las Vegas Mar. 15-19, Dr. Nibley will speak on the early Christian Church, according to Lynn Hilton, acting extension division director.

Monthly Wash Totals 26,000 At Y Laundry

by Jack Monson
Universe Photographer

Sheets	6,480
Pillow Slips	3,000
Towels	17,000

This is not a J.C. Penney inventory but the monthly wash at the BYU laundry.

The laundry is located behind the school dairy. It is operated by Celo Chambers, who has been in charge for the last three years. Seven students working alternate shifts throughout the day help Mr. Chambers.

Three Washers

Two large and one small washer, six dryers, one mangle 10 feet wide, and three steam presses are the working components of the laundry. The laundry washes everything from single sheets to gym mat covers. There is a set price from seven cents to forty cents dependent upon the item to be washed.

Five cafeterias, four dorms, fieldhouse, BYU home economics, nurse college, student health center, and Chemistry Dept. avail themselves of this convenience.

As yet the new dorms have not made use of the laundry, because of washers that are in the basement of each dorm. Laundry service, however, is available to all the dorms. Only sheets, pillow cases, and university-owned items used in the dorms may be washed at the laundry.

Nothing Personal

No personal belongings of the students will be washed.

All work is done between the hours of 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The laundry works on a forty-hour a week schedule unless something difficult comes in to be washed, then the laundry works Saturday.

IN THE still of the night—high above a sleeping American city—an unidentified aircraft is spotted. In a matter of seconds a lightning-like jet interceptor takes to the air. Unerringly, with an Aircraft Observer showing the way, the Air Force F-94 Night Fighter speeds to intercept the stranger. The Aircraft Observer is the man behind the pilot—the officer who keeps America's planes flying on course and on target. Without him the Air Force couldn't do its job.

What is the Aircraft Observer?

He's a Radar Officer . . . employing an all seeing eye that penetrates where human sight fails.

He's an Aircraft Performance Engineer Officer . . . knowing everything there is to know about his plane . . . keeping it fit for the skies and ready for action.

He's a Navigation Officer . . . plotting his plane's course . . . with an entire crew depending on him for a safe flight.

He's a Bombardment Officer . . . in full control of the plane over the target area . . . the Air Force Officer who "lowers the boom" on the enemy.

What the Aircraft Observer gets

He earns over $5,000 a year. His silver Aircraft Observer wings give him prestige and distinction, and he wears the bars of an Air Force Lieutenant. They mark him as the eyes, ears, and brains of America's Number One flying team.

What it takes to be an Aircraft Observer

The Aircraft Observer must be sound of limb, keen of mind, and above all, must have the determination to be the best.

To qualify as an Aircraft Observer you must be single, between 19 and 26½ years old, and a high school graduate. However, it will be better for you and the Air Force if you stay in college and graduate before you apply. Then you, too, can be one of the best . . . as an Aircraft Observer.

YOU'RE KILLING ME

Let your mind drift a few months into the future,when we are having real spring weather—not just this pretty good imitation. Imagine the flowers blooming in a profusion of color. Let your inner ear capture the sound of sweet song birds in the trees.

But as you drift into the land of fantasy there may be one terribly jarring note, it's the grass! The beautiful green lawns around campus are crisscrossed with dry brown paths made by the pitter-patter of students' feet during the winter.

If the present trend continues, spring on the Brigham Young University campus is going to lack the pleasant lawns that have proven such wonderful places to lounge in the past.

Let's wake up before we find barbed wire around all the green spots on campus. Treading on the grass now will only make us all suffer in the spring.

So come on folks, give that blade of grass a chance!

'Heaven' Rated Family Show

by Richard L. Pope — Universe Drama Critic

The Speech Department's "Heaven Can Wait," getting off to a typical 8:30 start, ran for four crowded performances last week in the J.S. Auditorium.

Though falling far short, in my opinion, of equaling Clinger's earlier success this season, "On Borrowed Time," the play boasted, thanks to the concerted efforts of D.T.R.'s, Orozco, Mathews, Gauguin, Braque, and Kermit Shafer, one of the nicest sets ever seen at the Y.

Family Show

"Heaven Can Wait" was a real family show. The kids on either side of me squealed, hollered, and laughed louder than at a session of Kuela, Fran, and Ollie—and I must admit, many of the lines were terribly funny. It was all about a boxer, snatched heavenward before his time, who had more trouble arranging for a new body with the celestial registrar than a Y student has arranging for a class card.

Of the acting, Andy Mostert as Mr. Jordan (remember the film version called "Here Comes Mr. Jordan"), Howard Driggs as Tony Abbott, Arthur Butler as Max Levene, and both Richard Bentley and Dale McLaneI as the protagonist Joe Pendleton, gave fine performances most of the time.

Jerry Lewis Humor

David Mitchell, Messenger 7013, was delightful if you like the Jerry Lewis type of over-done humor; terrible, if not. The rest of the rather large cast gave good supporting performances, and once you glad that our school has a Drama Department not of the star-system—made you glad you came.

P.S. The work of the production staff, with the exception of a radio that insisted on beginning before it was turned on and a couple of unstageworthy costumes, was so inconspicuously good that comment is unnecessary.

'Paris' Gets 'Exciting' Label

by Dave Forsyth - Universe Editor

If Paris is half as enjoyable as its counterpart on the Paramount stage was last Thursday evening—then goodbye Provo.

Sidewalk cafes, can-can girls and even the Eiffel Tower teamed together to provide an exciting recluse from mid-term madness. The only thing missing was the Follies Bergere—understandably.

Admirable Start

The show got off to an admirable start with Bryan Renstrom cutting out the ham and serving some prime beef—for a pleasant change. He then proceeded to tie the program together with some outstanding continuity, which never faltered till the curtain closed and the movie started. But he can't be blamed for the movie.

A good French felicitation to Dick Porterfield and his resounding voice and still another to the dancers and chorus who sprinkled "That's What Makes Paris Paree," "I Love Paris," and various and sundry French parodies throughout. All they needed was a signal to start singing at the same time.

Joyce Summerhays and Garth Ulibel contributed the most artistic touch—a silouette dance with a Parisian background—which provided a nice parallel to Joyce's all-around direction of the show.

Show Stopper

However, the show stopper came by way of Don (Eartha Kitt) Edgington and the other three Soldiaires. His (or her) rendition of "C'est Si Bon" was almost worth the aversion of seeing a man in woman's apparel.

Others deserving plaudits were vocalists Carolyn Frost and Jane Russell—also Colleen Collins and her can-can dancers.

Summary: Best yet—with hope that it is an indication of things to come.

Wanted: New Name For Old PS Bldg.

by Dallas Burnett

The announcement was made last week that construction on another new building would begin shortly. In the press release the structure was called a classroom building. Past experience would indicate that in 20 years your children will still be referring to this new building as the "Classroom Building."

During the last four years, four new buildings have been completed on campus and there hasn't been a real name for one yet. It's still the Physical Science building, the Fieldhouse, the Engineering building, and the Student Service Center.

Fixed Habits

Undoubtedly, the powers that control the naming of buildings fully intend to see that these structures receive proper names, but the question seems to be when? After calling the Physical Science building the Physical Science building for three years, it's going to be difficult to change the habit. The same thing applies to each one of our newer buildings. The longer they go without receiving a name, the harder it's going to be to find an appropriate handle that people can get into the habit of using.

Selecting a name for a building is no easy task, but it certainly isn't an impossible one. Students have been suggesting names for the Science building for several years, and the clamor for naming the building has risen and fallen like the tide. But with the school on the verge, or actually in the middle, of a huge building program, it would seem that the time had finally come for some very definite action. Or, some good explanations on the part of the administration or Board of Trustees.

Give It A Name

Consider the number of buildings on this campus that are going around with purely functional names. Besides the four mentioned previously, there are 15 family life units (how do you like that for a name?) and Campus Hall.

When it gets right down to it, more buildings on this campus don't have names than do.

So please, somebody, before the "Classroom Building" is printed in the catalog, give it a name as well as a blessing.

Women . . .

Dear Editor,

Amidst the pile of exchange papers in the Wittenberg Torch office, is the front page of the Brigham Young Universe of Feb. 4 caught my eye.

For there were the pictures of six of your very beautiful women. I was quite impressed as to their beauty and then shocked as to the contents of your editorial, "Guys and Gals" of the same issue.

I hope that the girls that are being left home are not all as attractive as the six "Queens."

What goes with all you men out in Utah. I was always told that in the west men are men and the women are damn proud of it. I couldn't see how the women could be proud of the men who just go out with boys.

Wishing better luck to your female population I am;

Plays . . .

Dear Editor,

What! No curtain call?

Wow! What a performance. To many of the patrons who attended Wednesday evening of "Heaven Can Wait" it was startling to say the least when, after several minutes of applause, no curtain call was given. Undoubtedly edy the cast would have liked to have acknowledged the plaudits of the audience.

Who then was guilty of denying them this well earned privilege? We all know that applause and the boos are the sugar and cream of theatrical productions. To deny them this hard fought for honor is in my opinion inexcusable.

This undoubtedly was one of the best little theatre productions I have witnessed and I feel that the cast was slighted.

Buildings . . .

Dear Editor,

Your recent article informing us that a new building is to be added to our campus has brought forth a question which is not new to many of us. "The new building, which as yet has received no name . . ." Why has it not received a name? Will it grow into the name of Classroom Building—a functional name, as some of the other magnificent structures on campus have—about as pertinent as the pendulum in the Physical Science Building.

It would be interesting to know what has caused the current trend of naming our buildings on a functional basis. In recent years there have been added four new buildings to grace our campus, for which the students are most appreciative. There is, nevertheless, an ernest question in the minds of many of us as to why such an important element has been neglected in many respects.

To us such names as Smith, Grant, Brimhall, Maeser bring to our minds some of the highest principles for which our school stands. Great men in the past have rendered outstanding service to the university. Such service is certainly deserving of recognition. We feel that the practice of naming buildings after these men bestows a fitting tribute upon their services and that such a practice should be continued.

Ours is not the only campus that has found a degree of virtue in naming buildings on other than a functional basis. This is still a campus on which personal feelings should be cherished and we think it hardly necessary to sacrifice them through growth. On the contrary, in growth let us retain a human element.

Studies . . .

Dear Editor,

Perhaps it will be remembered that certain observations and comments were expressed recently in the Universe about the precarious academic plight in which some of us find ourselves. Reference was made to grade-point averages, and effort toward improvement was encouraged.

Upon the premise that good academic work comes from effective study in quiet libraries, and upon the proposition that noise of any kind is distracting, these suggestions are offered as LIBRARY COMMANDMENTS:

1. Thou shalt attempt to muster an intellectual attitude before entering the library.

2. Thou shalt use discretion when clomping about the library floor in thy noisy shoes.

3. Thou shalt select a place and begin thy studies without much commotion.

4. Thou shalt confine thy books and papers to an approximate vicinity.

5. Thou shalt suppress with firm determination all impulses to babble with thy friends and neighbors.

6. Thou shalt refrain from popping and manipulating thy gum in a manner annoying unto thy neighbor.

7. Thy shalt restrain any nervous urge to do dances with thy feet upon the floor or to rap rhythms with thy hands upon the tables.

8. Thou shalt abstain from eating peanuts, popcorn, and candy in the library.

9. Thou shalt reserve the pleasure of crumbling paper and rattling paper until after thy departure from the library.

10. Thou shalt allow others access to places of study by removing thy paraphernalia when leaving the library for a long time.

Ostergaard, a native Californian, took first place in tumbling and free exercise, placed second on the horizontal bar and parallel bars, and finished third on the trampoline.

Gaining second place in the meet was Reed Weight, by virtue of his taking firsts on the horizontal bar and flying rings, a second on the trampoline, and a third in both tumbling and the rope climb.

Not far behind was Mickey Snyder, also of California, with 16 points, netted from seconds in the flying rings, and tumbling, and a third on the side horse.

Results of the eight events are as follows:

Side Horse—Bill Scott and Mel Gourdin (tie) for first; Mickey Snyder, third.

Horizontal Bar—Reed Weight, first; Jerry Ostergaard, second, and Bob Sasine, third.

Flying Rings—Reed Weight, first; Mickey Snyder, second; and Jerry Ostergaard and Jay Lenz (tie).

Intramural Briefs

Handball singles competition started last night with a Brigham Young University record being set in the way of entries in this sport. A field of 138 entrants are entered.

Preliminary matches were played to see who could qualify for the opening round, and competition will last three weeks, with possibly six competitive days in each week.

A bulletin board, formerly in use by the ROTC on the south side of the Smithfield building will now be used for intramural sports so that athletes won't have to go down to the fieldhouse for sporting announcements.

Y Grapplers Meet Utah Tomorrow

Students will have an opportunity to see Brigham Young University's championship wrestling squad in action Wednesday night in the BYU fieldhouse.

After trouncing Montana State Saturday, the Cougar grapplers will meet a tough University of Utah squad at 8 p.m. The Cats edged the Utah team earlier in the season and the Utes are aching for revenge.

Coach Reid Nilsen, Cat mentor, pointed out that the matches are held on the main floor of the fieldhouse and plenty of fine seats are available. College wrestling is one of the most interesting and intensive of the spectator sports. This should be especially true in the case of these two old rivals.

In Saturday's contest, the Cougars came out on the very long end of a 30-0 decision against Montana State. The Cats swept the eight bout match without a defeat. Montana lacked experience but were long on fighting courage.

Saturday's results:

123 lb. class—Arnold Wilson (Y), pinned Bob Wyman, 8:10.

130 lb. class—Reed Weight (Y), decisioned Ace Cacciatore.

137 lb. class—Lowell Thorstensen (Y), decisioned Connie Olsen.

167 lb. class—Mark Hafen (Y), pinned Art Redfield, 6:8.

177 lb. class—Milo Bauer (Y), decisioned Phil Kopriva.

Heavyweight George Bowman (Y), decisioned Don Edwards.

Cougars Drop Heartbreaking Decision To Fast Finishing Colorado Aggies

by Bill Knowles - Thursday Sports Editor

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (Special)—What a difference one point can make! Brigham Young's cagers can testify to this after dropping a 77-76 heartbreaker to league-leading Colorado A&M in the Aggie gym here Saturday night.

With the score tied no less than eleven times throughout the contest, Nick Mateljan and Dennis Steuhm putting on a spectacular battle in the center slot, and both teams fighting for the ball for all they were worth, the game left a capacity crowd of 3,300 nerve-racked from excitement.

Stall Wins

With less than five minutes to play and BYU in front, 76-69, the Colags scored three quick buckets on a set shot and layup by Len Gregory, and a long set by Bob Betz. This gave A&M a 75-70 bulge. Dean Larsen's pair of free throws made it 75-72, but Jack Bryant also converted a pair for the Rams, making it 77-72. Colorado A&M put on a beautiful stall with Betz, Bryant, and even the elongated Steuhm putting on a brilliant exhibition of dribbling and ball control.

However, the Cougars, pressing their defense all over the court, stole the ball and Larsen's tip-in made it 77-74 with a minute left to play. The Aggies continued their freeze, but BYU got hold of the ball once again, and Dave Lewis potted a two-hander to bring the Cougars to within one point. The clock showed only 15 seconds to go, so the Colags easily ran the clock out without giving BYU another try at the basket.

Steuhm Hits 23

Steuhm, the Aggies' six-foot, seven-inch pivot ace, was the game's top scorer, registering 23 points, mostly on whirling hook shots. Larsen and Mateljan were next in line with 22 apiece.

The score was tied 22-22 at the end of the first period. Colorado A&M took the lead at the outset of the second stanza, but the Cougars came right back, holding a 42-38 bulge at intermission.

Cowboys 'Play Possum;' Trip Cold Cougars 63-47

by Bill Knowles - Thursday Sports Editor

LARAMIE, Wyo. (Special)—A spirited gang of Wyoming Cowboys, led by fiery little Joe Capua, ran over Brigham Young, 63-47, before 8,352 patrons in the War Memorial Fieldhouse here Friday night.

Capua, a five-foot, nine-inch, crew-cut blond guard, led the Cowboy attack with 14 points, although BYU center Nick Mateljan was the game's highest point maker with 19.

Soph Starters

Wyoming coach Ev Shelton came up with a starting lineup of four subs plus senior cocaptain Ron Rivers, a move which definitely paid off. Center Ed Huse, who stands 6-8½, played a brilliant game on both backboards and scored 11 points.

Brigham Young was unable to control the boards consistently, although Mateljan led both teams in that department with 17 rebounds.

Quick Start

After Cougar forward Dean Larsen plunked in a pair of foul shots to give his team a 2-1 lead in the opening minute of play, the diminutive, southpaw Capua tanked a free throw, a 40-footer, a layup, and a jump shot that put Wyoming in front for good before the Cougars knew what hit them.

Wyoming held a 35-25 lead at halftime, building up from 21-14 at the quarter. Nine of the Cougars' 11 points in the second period were scored by Mateljan.

Cats Fight Back

BYU fought back in the third quarter, coming within six points of the Pokes, on two field goals and a free throw by Mateljan, a tip-in and beautiful drive-in by Sherm Crump, and Tom Karren's layup, while Wyoming hit a comparative cold spell, scoring only nine points.

The roof fell in on the Cougars in the final quarter. The Cowboys couldn't miss the basket, while the Cats were unable to do anything right. A deluge of layups, tip-ins, and set shots iced the game for the rampaging Pokes, as the Cougar defense fell apart.

Tausigs Cop Keg Honors; Playoff Set for 3 Teams

The Brigham Young University All-School Bowling is now moving into the semi-final round, with the Tausig outfit grabbing the honors in the Wednesday-Friday league. A three-way tie between the Val Hyrics, Brigadiers and Athenians in the Tuesday-Thursday league calls for a playoff to determine the champions in that quarter.

The top three teams in each league will vie for the championship. Twenty-five intramural points will be garnered by the champions of each league, with the All-School Champions getting an additional 25 markers.

SPORTSCOPE

by Larry Day

There has been talk around about a road jinx playing hob with the Brigham Young hoop squad, especially after this past weekend. It seems that every time Stan and the boys hop on a train or plane for a road trip, Jetro, the bonn fide jinx, hops on with them. During the trip old Jetro whispers discouraging things in the boys' ears, and in the game he fouls up their shots. Several people have told me they saw Jetro sitting on Dean Larsen's shoulder during the Wyoming game. Dean only got five points in that tilt.

If you ask my opinion (and nobody did), I think that the real culprit is lack of experience. We've got 12 men on the traveling squad. Seven of those men are sophomores. No one in the sports circles figured BYU for much this season. This was to be an "in between" season. Coach Watts was just going to take a breather this year while he built up his young ball squad. Well, here we are right in the middle of another pennant race, and I for one am mighty proud of the guys who put us there. I spoke in an earlier column about senioritis. Well, I was off the beam. Dean Larsen and Tom Karren are playing the finest ball of their careers and Blaine Anderson and Sherm Crump play pretty consistent ball, too.

Flowers to Boxers

In the flowers-from-Hawaii department its orchids to Art Saxell and his trim crew of boxers. Every other weekend or so, Art takes his boys out to one of the towns in the area and puts on a boxing exhibition. Sometimes the Brigham Young fighters meet local talent, and other times they fight intra-squad matches. The important thing is that Art and his boys do it strictly for he love of he sport and the experience.

The townspeople pay healthy admissions to see the bouts and this money goes for worthy projects, building funds and such. Speaking of Cougar fighters, watch a little guy named Francis Beck, he throws some fast leather, hard.

Coded in Fifth

Another BYU boy who has done very well for himself in the fight game is Chuck Woodworth. Chuck, like many of us, doesn't have all the money in the world, so he fights professionally to put himself through college. Chuck fought in the semi-maindrner of the Panter-Turner bout Saturday. It was supposed to be a grudge match with Ron Whittle. I'm sure Chuck didn't hold a grudge, but he cooled Mr. Whittle in the fifth round.

Talent of the Week . . .

Novelty Music Team Plays Piano and Tub

by Kathy Redd — Universe Staff Writer

Talent of this week, the novelty team of Bud Jones and Don Tucker, indicates that the Brigham Young ranks with a straight line when it comes to shortening the distance between two points.

Traveling southeastward 825 miles to the Y from his home in Lethbridge, Alberta, Can., Bud Jones began a diagonal bisection of the United States which Don Tucker completed by journeying 2600 miles northwest to Provo from Crawfordville, Florida. Their paths crossed somewhere in the Wynnoant dorm area. Bud and Don cannot recall if it was in the showers of D-7 or during a Student Program Bureau audition. Nevertheless, they met and another BYU act was on its way.

Piano Player and Tub Strummer

Bud is a pianist, who, with unusual musical talent and 13 years of study, is as at ease on the ivories with Grieg as he is with "Guitar Boogie." The latter is on the program when he teams with Don. Don plays the harmonica and an instrument whose principle constituents are a wash tub and a bass string. When queried about this contraption, Don replied, "Why, in high school I majored in physics so I could make it."

Assembly goers will recall the toe-tapping rhythms put out by the Jones-Tucker-piano-wash tub combination on the Freshman "Cougar Net" assembly. During fall quarter the boys performed in some 20 shows throughout the state, and they got underway this quarter with a convention booking at the Newhouse Hotel in Salt Lake City.

Political Science Majors

Apart from their act, Don and Bud have another common interest—they are both majoring in political science. Already a politician, Don was high school studentbody president and governor of Florida Boys' State, in those days he also had a string band, and the tub innovation came out of the difficulty in getting a bass fiddle. Don is chairman of the Freshman Forum and a Banyan personality.

Bud plays the piano by ear and according to his partner, ". . . can transpose anything." Music lessons, recitals, and other piano work kept Bud's high school calendar well filled, but he still found time to play basketball. He is getting in some vocalizing with his instrumentalizing by singing with the college choir.

NOVELTY DUO—Bud Jones, at the piano, and Don Tucker astride his favorite tub, combine their talents in state-wide shows sponsored by the Student Program Bureau. Their earned them "Talent of the Week" award, given by the Universe for this week.

New Supervisor Named For Extension Division

Brigham Young University extension division has employed Louise Beck Meyers as full time supervisor, according to Lynn Hilton, extension division acting director.

Mrs. Meyers' duties include determining evening courses to be offered by BYU and obtaining approval of teachers and college deans to conduct them. She also will publish evening course schedules and mail them out as well as register evening courses.

A graduate of BYU in 1951, Mrs. Meyers majored in English and comes from American Fork.

Chorus, Faculty to Perform

The Brigham Young University Chorus will be joined by the faculty woodwind quintet in a concert set for Feb. 21, at 8:15. Crawford Gates will conduct with J. J. Keeler playing organ accompaniment.

Set for the Smith Auditorium, the program will include the following numbers by the 260-voice chorus: Bach's "Here Yet A while," from St. Mathew's Passion; Handel's "Holy Art Thou," from Xerxes; Gaul's "Great and Marvelous Art Thy Works," from "The Holy City"; and Wood's "True Love's Gift." Also planned are Schubert's "O Peaceful Calm," "O How Lovely Was the Morning," by Smythe and Gates; Randall Thompson's "Alleluia"; and Mascagni's "Lord Now Victorious," from Cavalleria Rusticana.

Numbers planned by the woodwind quintet include Pierne's "Pastorale"; "Allegro"; "Andante"; and "Assez Lend," by Ibert. A trio of the group will do Roger Goeb's "Suite for Woodwind Trio." The quintet is composed of Ted Wight, flute; Blaine Edleson, oboe; Ralph Laycock, clarinet; Richard Ballou, French horn; and Jacob Bos, bassoon.
